

Course aims

Our HFAT[®] training course aims to provide a basic understanding of how human factors influence health and safety behaviour and performance, and enable experienced incident investigators to:

- better understand why people involved in incidents behaved as they did, and
- write more effective behavioural recommendations which will positively influence the behaviour of those immediately involved, and others, in the future.

Who Should Attend?

We normally ask for delegates to have the following:

- A minimum of 2 years operational management and/or HSE experience
- Trained in incident investigation methodology to competent level, and practiced in its use
- Demonstrable desire to deepen their understanding and application of human factors tools and techniques, and promote their use
- Satisfactory completion and submission of pre-course work (approx 3 hrs) by an agreed deadline
- Fluent in written and spoken English
